Cooper County was organized in 1818 and is named after Sarshall and Benjamin Cooper. Boonville is the County Seat and largest community. Much of Cooper County is prime agricultural land. It only takes a leisurely stroll on the Katy Trail to see the beauty. The county is scattered with many small businesses, and is alive with history. It is the site of some early Civil War battles along with the first official state fair location. It is also a spot on the Lewis and Clark Trail, and has prospered from being a county adjacent to the Missouri River.

We welcome you if you are new to the county, or are looking to relocate here. We think you will find it, as the locals already know, a great place to live, work and play.

HISTORY

Boonville, the county seat of Cooper County, is located in the very heart of historic Boone's Lick country. Boonville is rich in history. Whether driving past historic structures on your way to work or celebrating the town's heritage at an annual festival, the past will not soon be forgotten.

BRIEF HISTORY

The town is named for legendary pioneer Daniel Boone who, during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries, built a cabin at the Boone's Lick salt spring near Boonville. Two of his sons, Nathan and Daniel M., made the first salt west of the Mississippi. They floated the salt down the Missouri River to St. Louis.

Boone often visited his first cousins, Stephen Cole and Hannah Cole, who also lived in the area. Hannah was the widow of Stevens's brother and became an important part of Boonville history. Records show that she left the state of Kentucky with her husband and a group of pioneers to find a more suitable place to raise her nine children.

While she and her husband travelled, he was killed by Native Americans in the area now known as Hermann, Missouri. The other pioneers tried to persuade Hannah to stay there, but she was determined to find a place well above the flooding river. She crossed the Missouri River to the southside bluff where she built the first Boonville building—a fort to protect her family.

Cole later became the first woman in the state to obtain a license to operate a ferry boat between Boonville and Franklin Crossing. Hannah is often referred to as "Boonville's pioneer woman." The site where her fort stood was also the site of an early Civil War battle and the site of the first Missouri State Fair.

The first plat for the town of Boonville was laid out in 1817 by Asa Morgan, whom Morgan Street is named after, and Charles Lucas.

ARTS AND CULTURE

The arts are alive and well in Cooper County. There are many ways residents find to express their creativity. There are also many opportunities to observe the artistic endeavors of others in the community.

Turner Hall
518 Vine Street
Boonville
(660) 882-3300

Turner Hall dates back to around 1847 when it was originally built for the First Baptist Church of Jesus Christ. The building was used by a second church before being purchased by the Turn and Gesang Verein Society. They in turn gave the building its current name, Turner Hall. The Turners were an association of German immigrants who were interested in athletics, play reading and society. From 1935 on, the building was used by a variety of local businesses. Today, it has been restored by private owners and is once again being used for banquets and cultural events. The building also serves as headquarters for the Turner Hall River Rats for the Arts, a local arts organization.

Thespian Hall
522 Main Street
Boonville, MO 65233
(660) 882-7458

Thespian Hall has long been the icon of the Boonville artistic community. With the cornerstone having been laid in 1855, Thespian Hall is the oldest theater still in use west of the Alleghenies. A product of the cooperation of several local organizations, the Classic Greek Revival building was opened in 1857 with a Grand Ball.

In the course of its existence, and with a few expansion and renovation projects, the three-story building has served as a library and reading room, playhouse, city hall, Masonic and Odd Fellow lodges, MKT Railroad offices, skating rink, Civil War hospital and barracks, opera house and motion picture theater. In 1975 the building was acquired by the Friends of Historic Boonville through a gift from Kemper Charitable Trusts. The Friends have restored the interior of the building to resemble the ornate appearance of its opera house days. Today the building is used for local festivals, school programs, dance recitals, guest speakers and a number of other activities. It is the location for the Big Muddy Folk Festival and the Missouri River Festival of the Arts. The year 2007 marked the 150th anniversary of Thespian Hall.

Morgan Street Park
Main and Morgan streets
Boonville

In recent years, an in effort to bring visual arts into downtown Boonville, Morgan Street Park has been developed to honor some of Boonville's most prominent citizens. The initiative's first completed project was a life size statue of a Boonville pioneer woman, Hannah Cole. Created next were busts of world-renowned journalist Walter Williams, famed painter George Caleb Bingham and nationally recognized African-American educator, James Milton Turner. Busts of the founder of Kemper Military Academy, Frederick T. Kemper and David Barton, U.S. Senator from Missouri from 1821 to 1831, were completed later.

West End Theater
301 Doddridge Avenue
Blackwater
(660) 846-4411

The Old Baptist Church serves as the community theater in Blackwater. The 1905 building features the original church pews & stained glass windows. The troupe consists of many volunteer actors from Blackwater and neighboring towns. Proceeds go to Community projects.

REAL ESTATE

The quiet tree-lined streets, friendly neighborhoods and affordable housing found in Cooper County make it the ideal setting for first time homebuyers, established families and retirees. Whatever your housing preference may be, one of our many local realtors can help sort through multiple options to find the perfect home for your needs. You can also contribute to the design of your new home. In recent years, the growing need for housing in the county has led to the establishment of several new subdivisions.

Many of these developments still have building lots for sale in a variety of sizes and price ranges.

For many potential residents, the most attractive aspect of the Cooper County real estate market is its affordability. According to the 2013 U.S. census, the median value of occupied housing in Cooper County in that year was $119,000. With recent changes in the market, that price has gone up, but affordability is still available.

If you prefer to avoid home ownership there are a number of rental opportunities available.

Whether you are looking for a house, an apartment in a complex or a downtown loft, Cooper County landlords can meet your need.

Find a realtor you trust and put their experience to work guiding you through the process of finding your new home. You are certain to discover that Cooper County is a wonderful place to call home.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The mark of a truly great community is a solid investment in the future. Boonville and Cooper County set high standards in this area, providing truly superior educational opportunities for children living in this area.

The Boonville public school district currently serves more than 1,500 students, from kindergarten through the 12th grade. The district is divided into four buildings. Kindergarten through 2nd grade students attend Hannah Cole Primary. Third through 5th grade students attend David Baron Elementary. Laura Speed Elliott Middle School serves grades 6th through 8th grades, while high school students attend Boonville High School.

If you prefer a smaller school setting for your child, you might consider a local private school. Ss. Peter and Paul Catholic, St. Joseph Catholic and Zion Lutheran schools have provided quality education for Cooper County citizens for many years.

Education doesn't have to end with high school. Boonslick Technical Education Center offers college-level courses in a number of subject areas. The center also offers a G.E.D. program designed to help adult students earn a degree equivalent to a high school diploma.

State Fair Community College offers an Associate of Arts (AA) degree. The AA degree is designed for transfer to a four-year college or university. The Boonville campus is located on the grounds of the former Kemper Military Academy.

The public library offers a multitude of resources to patrons that wish to explore subjects on their own time.

Cooper County is committed to providing quality education for its citizens of all ages, races and income levels. If you have a desire to learn, there are plenty of ways to stimulate your mind in Cooper County.

SPORTS

If sports are important to you, you'll be pleased to see what Cooper County has to offer. Sporting activities can be found throughout the year in a variety of formats. From golf in the spring to basketball in the winter, there are many activities to satisfy both young and old.

ADULTS

Adults have many opportunities to stay fit in Cooper County, you just have to know where to look.

The YMCA offers an adult co-ed softball league each summer.

If taekwon-do interests you, you might be interested in the program sponsored by Boonville Martial Arts that is held at the YMCA.

Many adults also take advantage of weightlifting opportunities, such as the YMCA and Excel Fitness Center.

HIGH SCHOOL

Cooper County has five area high schools located in Boonville, Bunceton, Otterville, Pilot Grove and Prairie Home with some of the best high school sports programs.

For several years, Boonville High School has been awarded the position of top school sports program in the conference. With numerous successes in all sports seasons, there is always something exciting happening at BHS.

The school year gets a running start with football, girls' tennis and volleyball in the fall. Athletes begin training and practicing well before school begins in order to develop to their fullest potential. The winter sports, basketball and wrestling, are fewer in number, but maintain a great deal of enthusiasm among fans and students in the community. Finally, the year wraps up with baseball, golf, boys' tennis and track in the spring. There is always an opportunity for any student to participate in sporting events. In addition to an upstanding tradition, many area athletes have excelled in sports at the collegiate level.

YOUTH

Most sporting activities for Cooper County youth are offered through the Boonslick Heartland YMCA. The programs are designed to accommodate each child's skill level and to encourage athletes to become successful on each level. Soccer is still fairly new to the area, but the YMCA provides a soccer program for four different age groups.

The volleyball program is designed to teach the basic fundamentals of the sport for grades three through six. Soccer and volleyball are offered both in fall and spring.

As for winter sports, the YMCA has a basketball program for young athletes to freshen up their skills and experience different levels of play.

The newly-added wrestling program gives area residents ages five through fourteen a chance to develop their skills and participate in tournaments to compete against wrestlers from all over central Missouri. Folkstyle wrestling takes place from November to March, while Greco-Roman/Freestyle wrestling is held from April through July.

The YMCA provides youth sports during the summertime as well. The softball program is split into four age divisions, and teams compete against teams from surrounding communities.

The instructional league baseball program, designed for six to eight year olds, introduces boys and girls to the sport and helps them expand their skills in the game.

The Marlins swim team provides a chance for competitive swimmers to compete year-round. The YMCA even offers swimming lessons for beginners as well.

In addition to the YMCA, Boonville Cal Ripken offers the opportunity to play summer baseball. Both Cal Ripken Midget League, ages six to eight, and Cal Ripken Little League, ages nine through twelve, divide players into separate teams and play a league schedule throughout the season.

Cal Ripken Little League provides two separate divisions: Minor, ages nine and ten, and Major, ages eleven and twelve.

BABE RUTH

Babe Ruth Baseball League is an important part of little league in Boonville. In the world of little league, Babe Ruth is the most significant. In 2007, Boonville had a great honor. Out of nearly 1,035,123 players, Boonville's 14-year-old team forged ahead to the Babe Ruth World Series Tournament.

BOONSLICK HEARTLAND YMCA

The Boonslick Heartland YMCA offers a cardio theater, weight room, 25-yard indoor pool, batting cage and three basketball courts. They are contained in Johnston Field House on the former Kemper Military School campus. Programs for participants of all ages are offered in each season. Memberships are available at varying prices for youths, adults, senior citizens and families.

HAIL RIDGE GOLF COURSE

Hail Ridge Golf Course is an 18-hole course with zoysia fairways and continuous concrete cart paths to increase accessibility. Tee times are available one week in advance for normal play and may be booked further in advance for tournaments or elite members. Many discounts and membership plans are available. The facility is open 7 days a week all year round, weather permitting, and are available for private tournaments and outings.

CITY PARKS

The City of Boonville Parks and Recreation Department maintains 12 parks ranging from .25 to 70 acres. Shelter houses at any park in the system may be reserved by calling city hall at (660) 882-2332.

Harley Park

Spring Street
Acres: 31

The oldest in the system, Harley Park is situated on the Missouri River Bluffs. The land that houses Harley Park was donated to the city by the Harley family in 1887. It contains six shelters, two baseball fields, three playgrounds, two restrooms, four pre-historic Indian Mounds and a scenic overlook of the river.

Big Sky Park

Adjacent to Harley Park
Acres: 5

Now the site of the municipal wastewater treatment facility, Big Sky Park features open space, but no amenities.

Rolling Hills Park

Ashley Road
Acres: 70

Rolling Hills, the largest park in the system, is still largely undeveloped. It features a softball field, one large and two smaller shelters, a playground, restroom and concession stand. A 1-mile long, paved loop drive winds through the park, used extensively by residents for exercise and nature viewing.

Frederick T. Kemper Park

Third Street
Acres: 46

The newest park in the system, Frederick T. Kemper Park is situated on the campus of the former Kemper Military School. After purchasing the property at the school's closing, the city plans to develop the 16 acres that feature the academic buildings. The remaining 30 acres of open space may be developed or rehabilitated to include a lake, football field, soccer fields, two baseball fields and five tennis courts.

Lions Memorial Park

Mueller Street
Acres: 10

Located on the east side of town, Lions Park includes two shelters, restrooms, two tennis courts, a basketball court, playground, softball field, skate park and swimming pool.

Veterans Memorial Park

Tenth and Morgan Streets
Acres: 5

Although it remains largely undeveloped because of its location in the flood plain, Veterans Memorial Park features a playground, shelter and small creek.

City Lakes

Boone Village Drive
Acres: 4

Located directly behind Boone Village Shopping Center, the lakes are open to the public year-round. The larger of the two lakes is stocked with crappie, perch, bluegill, bass and catfish.

Bell's View Park

High and Eighth streets
Acres: .25

Bell's View Park was donated to the city in 1912 by Charles Bell. Encompassed by flower gardens, the park features two benches and a concrete observation area. Bell's View Park is the ideal location for relaxing while enjoying the flowing river below.

Johnston's Park

Seventh Street
Acres: 5

Mostly undeveloped, Johnston's Park serves as open space for the neighborhood and an extension of the playground for Ss. Peter and Paul Catholic School, located across the street.

Riverfront Park

Water Street
Acres: .75

Riverfront Park was developed in the 1990s revitalizing a blighted area of the city. The sloping, partially fenced area contains a playground and shelter.

Cobblestone Street Park

Water Street

Cobblestone Street Park was developed as a historical preservation project. It features a restored section of the original cobblestone street that extended from the river wharfs to Main Street in the 1820s. The park also highlights the history of the original Missouri River Bridge, built in 1923-24.

Morgan Street Park

Morgan and Main streets

Situated on a Main Street lot originally intended for public parking, the park was recently transformed into an artistic memorial. The park features statues and busts of Boonville's most prominent and historic citizens.

Hiking & Biking

Pilot Grove Trailhead.

COOPER COUNTY ON THE KATY TRAIL

History. Adventure. Outdoor exploration. If this appeals to you, you'll love what Cooper County has to offer. With 225 miles of trail from St. Charles to Clinton, Katy Trail State Park is a great way to see not only Missouri, but Cooper County as well. Whether you and your family wish to bike, hike, or just observe nature—Boonville is the ideal spot.

Built in the shadow of the Katy, the former path of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas (MKT) Railroad, the Katy Trail first became a vision in 1986. The Missouri Department of Natural Resources was able to acquire the land by the National Trails System Act. The Act allowed the government to use the railroad corridors that were no longer needed for transportation and recreation trails. From this, the Katy Trail was born.

The Trail is covered in crushed limestone providing an ideal surface for walking, jogging and biking. Traveling along the Katy Trail in Cooper County will provide you with spectacular views. The meandering trail takes you among bluffs and along the Missouri River.

You could also find yourself in the midst of rolling farmland. With the scenery changing every few minutes you'll be anything but bored.

One trip to the Katy Trail and you'll be immersed in the wildlife. From the tiniest insects to wild turkey and deer, there will be plenty to observe. Bird watchers will be pleased as they watch chickadees, nuthatches, robins, orioles, woodpeckers, red-tailed hawks and turkey vultures. You might also catch a glimpse of a great blue heron, sandpiper, Canada goose or a belted kingfish.

The main Boonville Trailhead is located four blocks off of Main Street on Spring Street. Willing to bike but don't have the equipment? Don't worry, there are a number of places in the area that sell and rent bicycles and equipment.

However you choose to enjoy the Katy Trail, any trailhead in Cooper County is the perfect place to start. Hop on the trailhead and enjoy local wildlife, history and get ready to make your own adventures.

RAILROAD MUSEUM

Many items displayed in the caboose have been loaned or donated by those that have personal attachment to the MKT Railroad and its importance to the area. The Museum Committee welcomes any that wish to participate in exhibiting items or donating memorabilia.

Open Memorial Day to Labor Day from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. Open by request on weekdays the Boonville Area Chamber of Commerce next door.
